

MODEL SECURITY COUNCIL OSGOOD CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

This March, the Osgood Center offers a program that focuses on the only United Nations body capable of creating binding legislation – the Security Council. On April 8-10, participants will engage as representatives of the 15 Security Council Member States in discussion of issues such as: Crisis Management in Failed or Fragile Nascent States and Enhancing International Cooperation on the Implementation of Counter-Terrorism. Model United Nations is an exciting way for students to learn about the cutting edge issues in international affairs and increase their awareness of different systems of government, international law, and international organizations, while gaining valuable researching, public speaking, and decision-making skills.

April 8-10, 2016

Briefing at US
Department of State

Simulation of current issues in international peace and security

Total Cost:
$85 per person, due
by February 6, 2016

OSGOOD CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

1629 K St. NW

Ste. 300

Washington, DC 20007

swilliams@osgoodcenter.org

www.osgoodcenter.org

